

Editorial

The Centre for Environment, Education and Economic Development is an organisation under the NGO partnership system of the Planning Commission, Govt. of India . This organisation is also a partner of the United Nation's Decade on Biodiversity 2020. This Journal "The Clarion" is published by this organisation since 1994 and with its scientific and multidisciplinary nature this Journal has been running since 2012 February. We bring out each year two issues to cater the need of the researchers. The main objective of the journal is to provide a wide academic platform mainly to the young upcoming researchers of our country and the world at large.

I am happy to inform my readers that I have been doing the task of Editor-in- Chief of this International Multidisciplinary Journal with dedication and enthusiasm since its inception. Our Journal has been helping to carry out its strategy for environment and development research in India in co-operation with other organisation both domestic and international. The focus of the Journal's work lies in finding the balance between environmental conservation, socio-economic and educational development.

For this issue of "The Clarion "Volume 3 Number 2 we received 89 papers but only 22 papers have been chosen for publication after going through two rounds of review both internal and external.

Here in this issue we have research papers from the University of Tabriz, Iran Islamic Azad University Mashhad and Ferdowsi University of Mashhad. This is really an interesting paper which brings into light the history of second language acquisition, many methods and approaches which came to vogue. This research paper reports active learning strategies which are helpful in creating an interesting learning situation. We have also received research papers from our neighboring country like Bangladesh on indoor air pollution and prevalence of acute respiratory infection among children in rural areas of Bangladesh .The Paper reveals that due to smoking habits of family members which are usually done inside the living room, which increases the occurrences of acute respiratory problems. In this issue, we have papers on Knowledge management in Indian corporate sector and role of library and information professionals. Here in this paper, the author from the University of Jammu presents strong evidence regarding Knowledge management (K M) in Indian corporate sector. In this issue of the Journal we have research papers from Medical Science, Environmental science, Agricultural science, Botany, Zoology, Economics, Education, History, Literature like Hindi, Sanskrit and from true social scientist and thus making the Journal truly multidisciplinary in nature.

Whatever it may be, now the International multidisciplinary journal "The Clarion" with its humble beginning could reach researchers from very remote corners of our state to different world-class universities across the world . We are happy to inform our readers and the contributors about more success of this journal. Now this Journal is indexed in the web based global indexing data bases like Index Copernicus. IC Journals is a journal indexing, ranking and abstracting site. This service helps a journal to grow from a local level to a global one as well as providing web based solution for small editorial teams. Apart from that our journal is now a part of the Cabell's Directory, Genamics , Cabi etc.

The opinions expressed in the articles and other contents appearing in the journal are purely those of the respective authors' and in no way reflect the opinions of the editors. Authors submitting their work for publication in "The Clarion" are responsible for getting approval for copyrighted material they use in their articles. "The Clarion" should not be held responsible for any infringement of copyright laws for the published content.

We follow a strict double-blind reviewing of the submitted works that is we promise to conceal always the identity of both the reviewers and the author from each other. If any submitted article fails to fulfill primary standards, it will be rejected and the author will be communicated the decision promptly. If the editors are satisfied, they will select two or more reviewers for detailed consideration of the articles. The editors may advise the author to revise the article for publication.

All contributions submitted for publication are critically reviewed by editorial board and in-house editors in order to ensure constant high quality of the journal. The papers which are failing to meet the basic criteria will be summarily rejected in the first step without external peer review. Individual authors of research articles can log on to www.clarion.ind.in or can directly submit their research papers to chiefeditorclarion@gmail.com

(Dr. Arup K Hazarika)

Editor-in Chief

The Clarion

Guwahati, India

Email : hazarikacotton@sify.com